On-site Classroom Delivery

Our on-site classes are delivered for private groups at your offices or a location of your choice. Generally, an organization will need to have at least three or four students in a class for it to be cost effective to bring a Platform instructor on-site.

Custom Technical Training

Platform has extensive experience developing custom training for our clients. Platform will work closely with you to understand all your pertinent training requirements so that a customized training program is created specifically for your organization. If you have a group in need of training we can develop a plan that achieves the following:

- Focused training on your specific implementation
- Customized training to achieve training objectives
- Reduced employee travel costs
- Avoids having many employees off-site for training at one time

Platform Instructors:

Platform instructors are seasoned and experienced consultants who deliver cluster training around the world. Our instructors have extensive experience in deploying, building and managing clusters. They bring real world experience to the classroom and are able to provide best practices to your computing environment.
